Gerflor solutions at Fleurimont Hospital

As part of an interior improvement project at Hôpital Fleurimont, the design and planning teams aimed to incorporate decorative wall elements to humanize the environment and provide a warmer, more uplifting space for patients, while maintaining strict hospital standards for hygiene and durability.

A custom, colourful design was developed to help create positive and calming atmospheres in corridors and care areas, particularly those serving pediatric and long-term patients.

The Decoprint system allows for high-resolution custom imagery printed on high-performance wall panels, perfectly suited to healthcare environments. Visuals were created in collaboration with clinical and architectural teams to strike the right balance between functionality, aesthetics, and emotional impact.

The Decoprint panels transformed the hospital's clinical spaces by adding colour, comfort, and life to areas that are often perceived as cold or institutional. A solution that combines visual impact with technical performance.
